

Kadish

You don't need to know Hebrew to say the Kaddish. This app teaches you, word by word.

Why recite the Kaddish for the one who has departed?

The Kaddish is one of the most important prayers in Jewish tradition.

Written in Aramaic, it arose within the ancient rabbinic tradition, and at its heart lie the sanctification and the exaltation of the name of God. The word Kaddish comes from the Hebrew root k-d-sh, bound up with the idea of holiness.

And there is something especially profound in the Kaddish: it does not speak about death.

Even in the face of losing someone we love, its words are not words of despair. They are words of faith:

“May His great Name be magnified and sanctified...”

In reciting the Kaddish, the mourner turns his grief into an affirmation of faith and of continuity.

The Kaddish requires a minyan (ten adult men praying together) and is recited standing. It should normally be recited in a synagogue during the period of mourning.
